Results of education: By this lecture, the student gets acquainted with the most basic questions of theology.
Brief syllabus: Fundamental Theology is dealing with the preliminary questions both of theology in general and dogmatics in particular. The question has to be answered which the sources and subjects of theology are (revelation and Holy Scriptures), how the relationship between God and man has basically to be perceived and how man, in particular the theologian, has to deal with God's revelation (theory of knowledge, methodology). The lecture shows forth the guidelines which are relevant for the whole field of theology, i.e. exegesis, dogmatics and practical theology.

Results of education: By this lecture, the student will get acquainted with the triune God by the persons of the father and the son.
Brief syllabus: Theology proper is dealing with the doctrine of God apart from Christology. It reflects the biblical witness of God the Father and it discusses the doctrine of the Holy Trinity, it presents the creative, sustaining and provisional work of God. It discusses modern and historical concepts of God. With respect to the unseen creation, it also deals with the sphere of angels and demons. Christology speaks about the person and work of Christ. According to the central significance of Christ, it is paradigmatically relevant for the whole of theology. Both incarnation and the doctrine of two natures will be presented and the problems which have been raised in history are to be evaluated in the light of the scriptures. The presentation of the work of Christ considers the three offices of Christ and defines the borderlines to doctrines which distort the Scriptures or render a deficient view of Christ's work. In view of Christ's work being anthropologically relativized in present times, the perfectness of it will particularly be stressed.

Results of education: By this lecture, the student gets acquainted with the third person of the Holy Trinity, the person and work of the Holy Spirit.
Brief syllabus: After an introduction to the problems of pneumatology and a survey of historical and modern views on the Holy Spirit, pneumatology will be developed along the biblical revelation history. The Holy Spirit as a person, his relationship to Christ, the Word, the Christian, the Church and the world will be central aspects. The lecture deals in particular with the doctrine of the charismatic gifts and presents a critical evaluation of charismatic theology. Non-christian and philosophical views will be dealt with critically. Soteriology has to deal with the application of the salvation in Christ; it has to describe what happens on the side of man. After a survey over theological positions on this subject, the way is described, by which man comes to partake in Christ. The sola gratia and sola fide will particularly be explained and evaluated in the light of the Scriptures. Justification and sanctification are the main aspects of the application of salvation and are explained with reference to the modern discussion on the doctrine of justification.

Results of education: The lecture presents the doctrine of the Church and the doctrine of the Last Things
Brief syllabus: The lecture presents the basic signs of the life of the Christian Church from a theological perspective. In view of the fact that the church always finds itself in new situations, it is necessary to consider the actual challenges in the light of the Scriptures, in order to get the guidelines for the ministry to which the church is called at present. The eschatological part of the lecture is the result of the Christian hope, which expects the final consummation and to which the whole of the biblical revelation is pointing. It starts with the question how the book of Revelation has to be interpreted and presents the other assertions of the Scriptures in concert with this basic decision. It thus arrives at a position close to the theology of the reformers on the Last Things and discusses the different concepts of eschatology from this point of view.

Prerequisites:
Conditions for passing the subject:
Results of education: By this lecture, the student will get acquainted with the anthropological foundation of ethics as well as the basic ethical questions.
Brief syllabus: The lecture on anthropology offers the theoretical and biblical-theological basis for the ethics. Man has to be considered both as having been created by God and as sinner, who has fallen away from God. This is unique in history of religion and philosophy. The answers which are to be given here cannot be given by the latter ones. The presentation takes place in a continuous dialogue with philosophical and modern scientific views of man. Fundamental ethics deals with the basic questions of theological ethics. It clarifies what ethics in general is and substantiates it by the revelation of God. The law of God is presented as the expression of God's will towards the created sphere and as a basic element of God's revelation. It is considered in detail and put in relationship to the Gospel. The reference of Christian Ethics to the created order is an important aspect. Christian ethics have to be distinguished from the ethos of the Christian, the believer, which is rooted in the Gospel and has to deal with the commandment of love; its relationship to the law has to be thought about.

Results of education: Medical ethics deals with the activities of doctors, nurses and relatives, which basically and immediately pertain to the bodily existence, as well as the activities of researchers in the field of human biomedicine and genetic engineering. At the same time, it deals with questions which a minister encounters in his pastoral care and to which the church needs guidance by preaching and counseling.
Brief syllabus: The lecture first clarifies the basic questions concerning life, death, illness and healing, the images of man in medicine, and medical treatment from a theological point of view. It further investigates what is technically feasible in modern medicine and tries to evaluate it in the light of the Holy Scriptures.

Results of education: The lecture clarifies what the Scriptures say to the subjects indicated on the syllabus, discusses other views and evaluates them.
Brief syllabus: The ethics of marriage, family and sexuality deals with those orders of life which concern man personally in a strong way. In manifold ways the Scriptures aim to these fields of life and they have molded Western culture in a sustaining way. They have been criticized particularly by new Marxist thought. Sexuality has been instrumentalized for social change towards new forms of life. The lecture takes up the differing views respectively. This part of ethics accompanies the minister in his work and in this regard the Christian Church is in need of direction and guidance through preaching and counseling.

Level of study: I.II.
Prerequisites:
Conditions for passing the subject:
Results of education: By this subject, the student gets acquainted with the art of interpretation.
Brief syllabus: The lecture deals with the preliminary questions concerning the interpretation of the Holy Scriptures. After an introduction into the hermeneutic problem, it describes important positions of interpretation of the Scriptures in the Western theology and philosophy, including Gadamer's hermeneutics. In the second part, basic issues in the interpretation of Scripture are discussed and guidelines for a methodologically adequate understanding of the Scriptures are presented. The lecture closes by an evaluation of the so-called historical-critical method.

Results of education: The lecture introduces to the discussion on the doctrine of Justification.
Brief syllabus: The question whether the doctrine of justification as it was taught by the Reformers and the Roman Catholic doctrine of grace can be combined successfully is answered in different ways. On the one hand we see protestant theologians and clergymen who disrespect the differences. This became obvious by the undersigning of the Common Declaration on the Doctrine of Justification in 1999 by representatives of the Lutheran World Federation and the Papal Commission for promoting the unity of Christians. On the other hand, a thorough investigation of the documents of Reformation and the Common Declaration will show, that the traditionally known differences have not been removed.

Brief syllabus: Augustine's Confessions are the first autobiographic witness in European history of thought. He is not only the great Church father, but also the person who has transmitted both the philosophical as well as the christian-theological tradition of the ancient world to the occident. His views are crucial for the understanding of the eintire Middle Ages but also of Roman Catholicism, as he combines Christian theology and pietiy with Greek philosophical thought. His Confessions comprise autobiographical, theological and doxological elements, which the great african has passed on the theological and hermeneutical horizon, within which the Bible has been understood.
